Themed Weddings or Weddings with a Distinctive Style

When you have a distinctive style or theme that you would like for your wedding you need to ensure that the supplier you choose will listen exactly to your requirements and match your ideas with the style of the venue. As a supplier of bouquets, table centres, chair covers, backdrops, drapes and full venue styling I can style a wedding through every aspect.

I would meet up with you and get a detailed list of your requirements and the venue(s). Also asking you to bring any pictures you have seen and like and colour samples to the meeting. Working with my portfolio of over 5000 photos of my previous work, samples of vases, fabrics and flowers and your ideas and samples, I would show you lots of photos of both bouquets and full venue styling to gain an idea of what you do like and what you don't, and what fits into the style of wedding you require.

Your required style can be made a reality with care from a supplier - I use different flowers to give different effects for example Roses for elegant, Gladioli, Freesias and Gypsophilia for country style, Anthurium and Strelitzia for tropical, Orchids for contemporary. I also custom make table decorations for themed styles, including feather displays, crystal and light designs and themed centres.

The addition of embellishments and details are very important - lights, candles, ribbons, butterflies, feathers, diamantes, pearls etc to enhance the style required.

The style, age, lighting and colours of the venue also would be very important when discussing the style/theme of the wedding required eg. tall ceilings look great with tall centrepieces, older venues may not look good with modern designs, lower ceilings look nice with shorter displays, modern venues need modern designs usually. Lighting - this is imperative to make the whole style come together - you made need to add uplighters, a fairy light back drop, candles or LED lights in the flowers to get the final style you require if the venue lighting is not as you wish.

Don't forget the supplier should make the most of any features in the venue – I would decorate a nice staircase with a flower garland or swags of organza and ribbons – flower displays for the top of a nice mantelpiece, garlands around beams and pillars with or without lights etc I would also avoid decorating a feature you did not like in the venue – or cover it completely with drapes maybe.

Chair covers may be needed dependent on the style required and the look of the venue's chairs modern/contemporary looks good with white covers and a sash – black covers maybe for a black theme – country styles may not need them at all. These can be used in conjunction with organza table overlays or drapes to add more colour if the venue is a neutral background.

I would listen to you and suggest ideas to complement your style required, but also query ideas and suggest alternatives if I thought they would not work in the chosen venue, in this way you can work together to come up with a detailed list of flowers and decorations to make your day exactly how you would like it..
